Geneva Conference Keeps Wrangling Over Terms of Protocol Report of Assassination Bulgarian King Officially Denounced Howl Against Laborite Ministers Attending the King's Courts in Their Full Regalia The Prince of Wales Was Welcomed at Winnipeg Yesterday Injunction Sought to Prevent Cunard Liners Bringing Liquor Into United States Ports

BULGARIA'S KING STILL LIVES

PARIS, Sept. 24—Report that King Boris of Bulgaria had been assassinated, circulated here and in other European capitals overnight, were given unqualified denial today by the Bulgarian legation in Paris. "We received news this morning direct from Sofia," the legation stated, "which enables us categorically to deny the reports that King Boris has been assassinated."

LULL IN THE FIGHTING AROUND SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Sept. 24—Guns on the fighting fronts near Shanghai remained silent today up to this hour "10 p.m." but a renewed Kiangsu assault upon the city's Chekiang defenders was expected at any moment. Defence preparations were complete tonight. Reinforcements have been added to the battle lines from Lihoo on the Yangtse coast, south of the Shanghai-Nankin railway line. An additional eight armoured French automobiles, equipped with machine guns, were sent forward late this afternoon.

NEWS AWAITED OF GERMANY'S APPLICATION

GENEVA, Sept. 24—Two most important commissions of the fifth assembly of the League of Nations sat down today to article by article discussion of the projected protocol on arbitration, security and disarmament, framed by Dr. Benes of Czechoslovakia and his sub-committee. The "big twelve" third, or disarmament commission in which conflict between British and French viewpoints is expected to come up again begins its review of the whole text at 10.30 p.m. Meanwhile the assembly is dealing with routine matters which still clog the agenda and the lobbies are eagerly awaiting news of Germany's definite application for league membership. The prospect early today was that despite the best will on all sides to finish the commission's discussions as soon as possible and report to the Assembly, there was no chance of adjournment before the middle of next week.

The Portia which is due tonight is expected to leave again on Saturday after the arrival of the shore train, resuming her regular West Coast service. She will not call at Argentina going west.

THE ARCTIC REACHES QUEBEC

QUEBEC, Sept. 24—At six o'clock this morning a little over three months from the time she left Quebec on her yearly voyage to Northern waters, the Canadian Govt. steamer Aretie, commanded by Capt. J. E. Bernier, warped her way slowly in and made fast alongside the King's wharf, bringing back with her not only the original party that set out, but also a wealth of various information and several members of the R.C.M.P., who today received their first glimpse of civilization for several years in the majority of cases and in one case three years. Capt. Bernier spoke in glowing terms of the trip, stating that every objective had been attained although not without difficulty in some cases. Baffin Island with a length of 1,000 and an area of some 200,000 square miles would be thought to be the first to be explored by the Federal Government, although definite action would depend on the official reports turned in by J. D. Soper of the Geological and Geodetic Survey Department who was landed at Cumberland Gulf, where he will spend the next year and half in the Govt's interests. Despite the fact that he was not at liberty to make any statements on the matter, Mr. Henderson stated that he was willing to admit that the possibilities of successfully developing the Northern country were "excellent. In many

WRANGLING OVER DETAILS

GENEVA, Sept. 24—If the League of Nations wants to conserve the hope that the United States may some day rally to a protocol of arbitration and security it is now trying to get admitted, then the drafting committee must not make the sanction provisions too binding. This warning was voiced by Sir James Allen of New Zealand before the disbursement of its 21st Annual Conference next month. Dozen of resolutions on subject over the details of the protocol text. Speaking for the British Dominions, Sir James said they would regard a moral obligation to lend aid to any attacked state as far more binding than any mere legal obligation, and they were sure that the United States would feel the same way, if the protocol were put up to her. If the jurists in the League Commission persisted in framing text which would tie the hands of the members states unduly as regards bringing sanctions to bear, he declared that New Zealand would have to make serious restrictions and he stated that the other Dominions might well do likewise.

sections of the country there are large amounts of coal with huge quantities of iron and other mineral riches obtained there waiting for men's hands and implements to wrest them from beneath the surface of the earth.

Laborites Set Up Howl Against Knee Breeches and Clinking Swords

LONDON, Sept. 25—Mighty howl against practice of Great Britain's Laborite Ministers in attending King George's Courts in full regalia silk stockings, knee breeches, "clinking swords, embroidered coats, buckled shoes, cocked hats and all the rest of it will probably go up to rafters in Queen's Hall, when Labor Party holds its 21st Annual Conference next month. Dozen of resolutions on subject over the details of the protocol text. Speaking for the British Dominions, Sir James said they would regard a moral obligation to lend aid to any attacked state as far more binding than any mere legal obligation, and they were sure that the United States would feel the same way, if the protocol were put up to her. WINNIPEG, Sept. 24—On his way to his ranch in Alberta, the Prince of Wales stopped off in Winnipeg for three hours this morning. His programme here was quite informal and bereft of all ceremony. At the Canadian National station he was met by Mayor Farmer, who expressed his pleasure at the visit of His Royal Highness. The Prince said he was always pleased to visit Western Canada and he was looking forward to the rest and recreation to be obtained on his ranch.

The Humber special reached town at 1.30 this morning bringing some twenty passengers.

CHAPTER XL

The Indian Maid.

Twilight—darkness, indeed, but for the snow. Snow on the wide stretching plain, snow on the hills rearing their great, threatening heads in the distance, snow on the leafless trees of the prairie wood—such an evening as renders the glowing fires enjoyable, and the light of a pair of wax candles through the steam of a teakettle appear the epitome of comfort—such a scene of wide-stretching, snow, dreary mountain peak and grim forest as the poet who wrote the ode to Nature's solitude might have conjured up for inspiration. And yet there is human life animating the ghostly landscape, and heightening its dreariness by contrast; for, slowly approaching the forest, across the open glade, rides a solitary horseman.

Though it is twilight, the air is so clear and keen that his figure and face can be seen at some distance, and once seen, they are not to be passed over by the most careless observer.

A tall, strong-framed, though thin, and somewhat depressed by evident lassitude, broad shoulders, muscular arms, and a leg that clad now in tight-fitting gaiters or buffalo-skin might have made its mark in the days of satin breeches and silken hose; a face—so much of it as can be seen for the fur cap and upturned collar of the horseman's cloak—cleanly cut, heavily mustached, dark-eyed; the hand that holds the frozen bridle is long thin, shapely; and the air with which the rider looks about him is somewhat different to the sharp, ferret expression which distinguishes the ordinary fur-trapper.

And yet what man, other than a fur-trader or a lunatic, would be riding across the plains of the Snake River in a North-American winter evening?

How is one to believe that this man, slowly picking his way over this seemingly endless plain, miles away from civilization, food, fire, comfort—this man with the patrician face and bearing, clad in beaver skin and moccasins, and bestriding a horse as weary as himself? How is one to believe that he was, and might be again, if he chose, the pink and form of fashion, the beau of a London season, the well-beloved of aspiring daughters, the hope and aim of conspiring mamma's, the pride of an ancient house, the friend of the noblest in the land, and—the enemy of himself? All this, and more, is Percy Chester, heir to an earldom and "lord of himself, that heritage of woe." Three years ago if any one had said, "Percy, my boy, you'll winter in North America, and spend the cheerful days among redskins, beavers and grizzly bears, often hungry, nearly always cold, generally dissatisfied," he would have laughed the prophet to scorn, and talked about what he meant to do with the Pytheley and the Quorne.

Yet, here he was, alone in a solitary waste, very tired, very hungry, and tolerably cold; while far away his old companions and friends were careering through a short London season, and wondering "what on earth had become of Chester, you know!"

Perhaps a similar kind of question he was putting to himself as he settled down into his saddle and pulled his cloak more closely round him: certainly with an impatient kind of shrug, that generally comes as a finale to self-communing, he checked the slow progress of the horse, with a word, and looked round him.

Apparently the landmark or object for which he looked did not greet his aching eyes, for with a pursing of the lip and an emphatic shake of the head, he said to his sole companion—the horse:

"Something wrong here, old lady; we've missed the way, or Spotted Wolf has played us false. The tribe should be hereabouts or we made a mistake in the tracks."

The horse—who, of course, understood every word of the foregoing, raised his head, looked round with uplifted ears; then neighed.

"Exactly my opinion," said its master. "If I understood you rightly, old lady, Spotted Wolf is not—not to put too fine a point on it—to be relied on, or the tribe has gone; which is it, I wonder? Not that it matters, for whichever way it goes, we must camp out in the snow to-night. Let us get under the trees."

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Pains in Left Side

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard,' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. ROSE, 680 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

With a shake of the head, the tired horse put its best foot foremost, and again the silence, so weird and awful, fell upon the scene.

With that silence unbroken, man and beast entered the skirt of the wood, and there as if by mutual consent, made a halt.

Dismounting, Percy Chester flung the bridle over his arm, and with eyes, ears and nose—for the hunter and fur-trapper must follow that feature in more ways than one when he is roughing it in North America—on the alert, proceeded to a cautious reconnoiter.

After a few minutes of intense listening our hero pitched upon a little hollow made by the meeting of the limbs of these trees, and which was comparatively free from snow; drew the saddle from his mare, rubbed her nose with a handful of snow-water, abstracted a like quantity of corn from his saddlebag, directed her attention to some green leaves that protruded from the winter shrubs near at hand, and while she was nibbling them with the keen enjoyment of a hungry horse, rubbed her down as carefully as if he himself had dined, rested, and was at ease.

Hard and Soft

Henry J. Stabb & Co.

All this done very quickly, and with every now and then a word or two of encouragement and good-fellowship, the traveler proceeded to clear a space in the snow, to pile upon it the driest boughs and twigs he could find, and to turn them into a good, roaring fire.

Then he rubbed his own hands and face with melted snow, sat himself down by the fire, and proceeded to enjoy the first meal he had tasted since the morning.

The supper over, he piled fresh logs on the fire and took out his pipe, he hesitated a moment ere he filled it, for a glance at his beaver-skin pouch showed him the smallness of the supply, and he knew that there was a fair chance of his requiring a pipe in lieu of to-morrow's dinner.

"We'll save that, I think, Judy, in case the larder should run out," he muttered, nodding at the horse; and replacing the pouch in his pocket, drew the ears of his cap over his face, and lay down to that repose which a long, wearisome ride had honestly earned.

An hour, perhaps more, passed when the recumbent figure rose quietly but sharply on its elbow, and stretching out one hand for the long rifle which had been resting beside him, listened intently.

A slight noise in the bush by his right—so slight that nine months ago it would not have attracted his attention, though he had been ever so wide-awake—had not only aroused him, but put him on the alert.

A bed beneath the yew-bell trees in the Rocky Mountains is not quite so free from interruption as one in the Albany Chambers, and the interruption generally comes in the shape of a dusky, moccasin-clad two-footed foe, or not less treacherous four-footed one.

Whatever occasioned the noise, the horse heard it, too, and with straightened ears, stood as if carved in stone.

Again! This time the hunter took to his knees, and holding his rifle on the trail, ready for instant aim, crawled cautiously toward the direction in which the sound had arisen, murmuring in a coaxing, reasoning voice:

"Quiet, old lady! This is just what I expected. Well, a little excitement will help to keep the ball going. Now, Mr. Grizzly—if you are a grizzly, and I can't see what else you can be here's lead for supper!"

And, bringing his rifle to the aim he felt for the trigger.

Before he could fire the first barrel, with the intention of bringing his foe out into the open for the reception of the contents of the other, a light, not unmusical yell rose from the darkness, a small figure leaped to the right of the bush in one bound, and in another sprang into the circle of the fire-light.

With an expression of surprise, and—yes, disgust—for no one likes to be deceived in his expectations of evil or good—the hunter lowered his rifle; not incautiously, however, and stood staring at the apparition. For a moment he could scarcely believe himself awake, he could not but think that this was a trick of the elf, Sleep, for there in front of him stood a young Indian girl, straight and lithe as a sapling, defiant as a panther-cub, glittering-eyed as a serpent.

The glittering eyes were fixed with a half-supplicating, half-questioning gaze upon the hunter; the childish hands, small and thin, were clinched at her side; the head poised like a fawn's, the straight, shapely bust rising and falling with the fear which the young soul tried so hard to conceal.

Now if there was anything in the wide world of emotion which Percy Chester disliked and loathed it was that weakness which is known as the embarrassment of surprise.

For a moment he looked hard and inflexible, then he nodded, and with a slight, sarcastic reflection muttered "Indeed!"

The Indian girl nodded in answer to his nod, but remained immovable. "Now," said Percy, as coolly as if he were propounding a question at whist, "is this an ambush—are there half-a-hundred of your villainous relations behind taking careful aim, and speculating on horseflesh and my scalp, or is it a case of founding hospital? Come, young lady, drop that statueque, and let us go into the quess." And with a gesture of command he pointed to the fire.

The girl, still keeping her eyes on his face, walking slowly, ah, with such a grace!—no, civilized young lady, you could not learn that light half-dancing, half-glide if all the dancing masters in France were to take you in hand!—it belongs to the Indian, and though we have taken all else from him we palefaced cannot rob him of that—came slowly to the fire. ## The Dredge And Other Economies Of Clean Up Crew

The Liberal Government cut out the operating of the dredge and saved $40,000.00 a year. The dredge was used subsequently by the business people, but they always paid the cost of operating her. Since 1921 the dredge has cost the Colony nothing for operation. This was done in order to cut down expenditure. Since Monroe took charge the dredge has been put into commission once again and is now costing the Colony a thousand dollars per week for expenses. The work done by the dredge since being put into commission is of little or no value to the state.

Mr. Monroe was the first to use her to dredge his south side premises at St. John's. Then she was sent to Bonavista Bay to use up time at the Newtown Bar and Wesleyville. Nothing of service can be accomplished at either place, for what might be done at Newtown will be filled in again when the first storm occurs. At Wesleyville the fishy talk is that she is extending the harbour capacity by deepening the tickle. Ten years ago Wesleyville moored twice as many schooners as are now owned or sailed from that place, and if there was mooring space ten years ago for fifty schooners there must be lots of space now to moor twenty-five.

The United Fishermen demanded retrenchment and the reduction of public expenditure. Strange to realize that the first places to demand the use of the dredge were the two foremost settlements claimed for United Fishermen support to Monroe. Were these Committees fooling the people or were they sincere? If sincere, why is the dredge operated for useless public service at the cost $1,000.00 a week at the United Fishermen's headquarters? If this waste is persisted in then the country must be convinced that the city of retrenchment from Wesleyville was nothing more or less than bluff, intended to cover deeper designs of a few men intent on securing power for selfish aims and personal jealousy. They also demanded the cutting off of the lower Labrador steamer which they stipulated as absolute waste of public monies. The Liberal Government decided to cut off the lower Labrador steamer and did so after making full enquiries as to the necessity for such a service.

The Tories obtained power and as soon as the ink was dry on Billy Winsor's commission as Minister of Fisheries the retrenchment policy so strongly demanded by the Jesse Winsor bunch was put into operation, by adding the cost of the dredge and the lower Labrador steamer to the expenditure for 1924. The brother of Billy Winsor was of course given the job as captain of the Wren at $150.00 per month, and a good man who knew the job well and who had operated the service for many years without a hitch, was dismissed. The Wren makes a trip over the lower Labrador route and brings up on a rock and is abandoned. This display of ignorance, incapacity and contempt for public feeling has cost the country about $15,000.00 and the only result is a job for Sam Bob Winsor and a half dozen of Monroe's heelers. The "Wren" was lost a couple of weeks ago; but Sam Bob's picnic is to be continued, and the "Walker" has been hired at a stiff price and sent down to him. What an outrage on a tax ridden people to send another steamer of the Walker's build to Northern Labrador this time of the year. She is only a tug boat and has very little passenger accommodation. Another instance of cleaning up, or is it cleaning out the pockets of a deceived and deluded people.

To further show their contempt for the public demands and their pledges to the electorate for retrenchment and economy, they send another heeler named Dominy as information agent on the lower Labrador at a cost of $150.00 per month from Wesleyville—a news agent for the upper Labrador at the cost of another $150.00 per month, including meals. The news sent by these agents was intended to inform the exporters of the quantity of fish taken by schooners and also to let the suppliers at St. John's know exactly what each schooner had secured. The news was sent to the Board of Trade by wireless at further public cost and when received was as reliable as the news a couple of years ago about the big find of gold on the Labrador. The report by these wise men claims that so many schooners had taken 100,000 qtls. of fish. The truth is not half that quantity has been taken—and even if these schooners had taken the 100,000 qtls. why should Monroe have two heelers on the coast to telegraph it, so that all the world would know, and cause Hawes' agents at Alicante to give out the report that the fishery in Newfoundland this year was the best for fifty years.

This is how Monroe is helping the Labrador toiler as well as the toilers in general. The man of course is not responsible for what is done, for he is a nonentity and only does what he is told. This would not matter so much if it affected only the Tory Party, but unfortunately it affects the earning power and the taxes of the whole country. This is the "clean up, keep clean party." Who imagined at Wesleyville last spring or in the 1923 election that the "clean up, keep clean policy" meant wasting $1,000.00 a week on a dredge that is not necessary and a steamer for Sam Bob Winsor that was useless. But it is only in keeping with the actions of men who pledged themselves to an honest government, such as would be founded on righteousness, and within six weeks after taking over the power to govern pass a law to make every possible man a drunkard by selling him a bottle of rum every day by law and all he wanted up to a backload by winking at the law.

No one is insane enough to believe that any enforcement of the liquor law is necessary where any man is legally entitled to a bottle per day. The "clean up" crowd will very soon be the cleaned out crowd, for no sensible electorate can tolerate the blow to public morality that has been administered by this "clean up" gang since it secured the reins of power.—(Fishermen's Advocate).

After the inner man had been appeased the Officers and brethren of the District Grand Lodge were received by Heart's Content Lodge in lodge assembled. Right Wor. Bro. S. G. Collier, P. S. G. W., Wor. Bro. W. P. Butler and Wor. Bro. R. W. Spry of the District Grand Lodge of England were also received. Prop. Bro. W. C. Major.

General regrets were expressed that the I. P. M. Bro. Dr. Arthur Anderson could not be present because of the recent accident in which he unfortunately had his leg broken. A telegram was despatched to I. P. Anderson at the hospital wishing him a speedy recovery. During the evening, community singing was indulged in which was greatly enjoyed by the large numbers that were present, much of the success of this being due to the able leadership of Bro. J. R. Peach who presided at the piano. At two a.m. the singing of the National Anthem brought to a close the most successful installation ceremony yet held in the Cable City of Trinity Bay. The city brethren returned to town by motor yesterday.

Government Men

Take a Jaunt

A special train provisioned for a four day cruise left town this morning, having on board Sir John Crosbie, Hon. W. J. Higgins and Hon. M. S. Sullivan. It is said the gentlemen are gone to Grand Falls. Another report has it that they are on a roving commission and may go further along the line. It was also stated that Mr. Woodford formed one of the party. Enquiry at the respective offices of these prominent Government officials elicited no further information as to their mission. They are not gone on railway matters as far as can be learned. Is it a health trip, perhaps so, gentlemen who want to clean up and keep clean must always keep well, and a trip over the Government Railway during the shooting season is always a delightful experience.

THEY SETTLED UP

Seven or eight rather prominent personages were to appear in court this morning for not filing returns under the income tax act. They settled up and the cases were withdrawn.

The Ups and Downs Of The English Penny

LONDON, Sept. 24 (By Canadian Press)—The ups and downs of pennies in Great Britain make an interesting story in view of the fact that owing to the post-war glut of bronze coin the Imperial Mint has stopped striking pence and instead has established a register to show where large surpluses are being held.

During the period when war prices were rising the issue of pence increased enormously. For five or six years everyone was clamoring for pennies. By 1921 it was all the other way. The stocks accumulated by gas and tramway companies had become so large that the coppers were difficult to dispose of through the ordinary channels. Even today the Gas, Light and Coke Company has a hoard of 17,000,000 pennies, and until Christmas approaches and shopkeepers and others want more, a change there is little prospect of disposing of it.

Ten years or more before the war it was the development of automatic machines for the supply of gas, combined with the progress cheap forms of travel, that led to a great increase in the demand for pence. Large quantities of pennies were being withdrawn from circulation by the slot meter system. A partial census taken at the time showed that the value of pennies locked up in meters was about £200,000. No census has been taken since, but during the war it is fairly obvious that the amount must have been much higher, for not only had the number of meters, but they remained for longer periods than usual uncleaned.

The total value of pence in circulation today is approximately £7,000,000—Approximately three shillings for every man, woman and child in the kingdom. In spite of this, and last year's suspension, more than half of this amount has been issued in the 13 years of the present reign. Of King Edward pennies the value of the nine years' issue was just over £1,000,000.

The last 40 years of the 19th century produced no more than about one-half the number of pennies that has already been struck in the first 24 years of the 20th. The value struck of the 1860 design, with the early head of Queen Victoria, was £1,500,000, and that of the 1895 design, with the ladem and veil, £600,000.

Twice in the early 90's the value of the annual issue of pennies was less than $30,000. In 1906 the £100,000 mark was reached for the first time. Since the beginning of the period of automatic machines the increase has been almost continuous.

Cost of Living In Britain

On August 1 the average level of retail prices of commodities taken into account in the statistics compiled by the British Ministry of Labor, was approximately 71 per cent. above that for July, 1914, as against 70 per cent for the previous month and 71 per cent a year ago, according to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service. For food alone the corresponding percentages were 64 per cent on August 1, 62 per cent for June, 1924, and 65 per cent for July, 1923.

The following table gives the cost of living index number, together with the individual numbers for the past six months:

July 1914—100.

Cost of Living In Great Britain

	Mar. 1 1924	May 1 1924	July 1 1924	Aug. 1 1924
Food . . .	176	160	162	164
Rent . . .	147	147	147	147
Clothing . .	225	225	225	225
Fuel & Light	187	185	185	185
Other items	180	180	180	180
All Items	178	169	170	171

The rise in the percentage between July 1 and August 1 in the food group was mainly due to increases in the prices of flour, bread, butter, and eggs, which however were partly counterbalanced by a heavy fall in the price of potatoes.

A Newfoundlander Compares Conditions at Home With These in U.S.A. and Canada

36 Jackson Street,
New Rochelle, N.Y.
Sept. 15th, 1924.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:—Having been a frequent visitor to Newfoundland during the past eleven years, and having spent four months of last year in and around Notre Dame Bay, I feel that I am qualified to speak on labor conditions as I saw them, and compare them to conditions covering the same work in other countries.

All through these eleven years I have been kept posted through your Sales Agent for Nfld.

different newspapers of what has been developing in the country.

I was extremely interested whilst reading a speech by a Mr. Hibbs, the member for Fogo, dealing with the rotten labor conditions as they exist
at the Humbermouth.

These conditions have existed ever since the project began, and have gradually gone worse, until a strike was inevitable.

The same conditions also exist at Grand Falls, and if the Gander Proposition goes through, the same thing will occur there, if a very strong protective clause is not put into the agreement. A gentleman's agreement is not worth one iota today, and any member or number of members who believe that 25 or 30 cents per hour, for even the commonest labor is sufficient for a man to support a wife and family, and the Newfoundlander averages a fair sized family, then they ought to be made to go and perform that labor for 6 months or a year, and they will learn that it is an absolute impossibility.

Where the member referred to the Newfoundlander working side by side with foreign labor, and only receiving 35 cents per hour against 70 cents to the foreigner, I think if you would find the facts of the case, you would find that these foreigners have a written agreement for a number of years, and are fully protected. However, it is a disgrace to any Government who will stand idly by and permit such an injustice to be imposed on local labor, can one wonder when they revert to striking.

Wages for common labor in the States and Canada average 40 cents an hour. Plumbers and steam fitters average 8 and 9 dollars a day for eight hours, carpenters average the same. Lumbermen average 7 or 8 dollars a day, whilst carpenters, plumbers and steam fitters, electricians, painters, and tinsmiths are receiving $10.50 per day of eight hours in and around New York.

If the cost of living is brought in on the subject I fail to see where living expenses are any cheaper in Newfoundland than in the States or Canada. To be frank, I must say that the Newfoundland workman cannot afford the ordinary means, let alone some of the luxuries he is entitled to,
on account of his small weekly wages, and the high cost of said luxuries.

Labor in Newfoundland is passing through experiences that other countries passed through 50 years ago, and the more industries are developed the more will she come up with conditions that are confronting them today.

The solution is absolutely up to the men themselves, and if they wish to enjoy the privileges and pleasures that workmen in other countries are enjoying, they must be like the employees are, and that is organized 100 per cent. Oh, yes! the employers are fully organized all over the world, but they do not wish to see the workmen organized at all, for they are fully aware that when that takes place, they must concede many things that will take some of the profits from their pockets. Let me say here, I do not believe in strikes, and there is absolutely no necessity for them if you all organized fully.
Pick out your real leaders, rally round them, organize all your different crafts, work jointly, not separately, for here is the real weakness that employers play upon, and with unity of strength, and unity of purpose, there is no reason in the world why the workingman of Newfoundland should not enjoy life in peace and prosperity. Put selfishness and personal gain out of your minds entirely, and remember that "United you stand" and divided you fall always.
Trusting in the near future I may have the opportunity of visiting Newfoundland, and find you have made rapid progress in this direction.

Let me conclude by giving you President Lincoln's version of Labor and Capital, and which is laying a great part in the future of labor all over the world.

Labor is prior to and independent of Capital. Capital is only the fruit of Labor, and could never have existed
if Labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of Capital, and deserves much the higher consideration.

Consider this carefully, and when you have done so, we believe you will come to only one conclusion, and that is that you are entitled to good food, good clothing, and good housing, and with leisure time for education and pleasure. You are fully entitled to these things, and God fully intended that you should have them, but the craftiness and greed of a few men played upon the ignorance and indifference of the many, until we have reached a point when there must be a stiff struggle to retain our rightful place in the world.

Yours respectfully,

THOS. CARTER.

Football Cup Presented

A very pleasing event took place at Holy Cross Schools, yesterday, when the Higgins-Hunt Junior League Championship Cup was presented to the School by the team. Besides the teachers and senior pupils of the school there were present some members of the championship team, and the executive of the Junior League. Rev. Bro. Eagan, in opening paid a tribute to the work of the team which was formed last year, and by dint of hard practice and attention to instructions were able to achieve victory for two successive years. The President of the League then presented the Cup to Captain Murphy of the team, congratulating him and his associates on their victory and Holy Cross on having such splendid representatives.

A tribute was also paid to Bro. Eagan who had so successfully directed the team since its formation.

Captain Murphy accepted the Cup and in a suitable speech handed over the trophy to his Alma Mater, expressing the hope that it would be the first of many such to be given to the school.

On behalf of the School, Brother Eagan accepted the Cup, and thanked the team for it, and their loyalty. Other speeches were made by Bro. Long and Mr. T. J. Dalton, whilst songs were rendered by Messrs. Curtin, Owens and Neville, after which the boys were granted a holiday. The affair concluded with cheers for the team, Rev. Bro. Eagan and the Junior League.

WEDDING BELLS

THOMAS—LANGMEAD.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Queen's Road Congregational Church at 3.30 p.m. yesterday, when Mary Louise, second daughter of Mr. George Langmead, jeweller, of this city, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Eugene Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas, Rev. D. L. Nichol, Pastor of the Church, officiating. The bride looked charming in a costume of charming satin with veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Agnes Langmead and Mildred Thomas, sisters of the bride and groom. The former was very prettily attired in mauve and the latter in apricot taffeta. Both wore black hats and carried bouquets of asters, roses and maiden hair fern. The flower girls were Rose Thomas and Helen Warren, who were attired in lemon coloured crepe-de-chene and carried baskets of beautiful blooms. The duties of best man were performed by Mr. Chesley Pippy. As the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, Miss Barnes, Organist of the Church, rendered an appropriate march. The hymn "O Love Divine" was also sung and as the party left the Church Miss Barnes rendered the Wedding March. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, Water Street, a very large number of friends being present. After the customary toasts had been honoured Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left by motor for Holyrood, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride was the recipient of numerous pretty and costly presents.

OBITUARY

JAMES WARREN

A gentleman of the Old School passed away Tuesday, in the person of Mr. James Warren. Born in 1815, he received his education at the Academy of Adam Scott, where he was classmate of Rev. Dr. Bond, Mr. John Cowan, Hon. John Ayre, and others of that day who attained distinction in their various callings. Mr. Warren was for many years a highly respected member of the business community of the city. He was of a very retiring disposition, but those who knew him intimately, knew him to be a man of many attainments, charitable, kindly, courteous, devoted to his family and his church. He died calmly and peacefully, as he had lived. He is survived by one son, John J., and three daughters, Miss Annie, Miss Rose and Mrs. C. J. Cox, to whom the Advocate tenders sincere sympathy.

Interment took place this afternoon in the family plot at Belvedere. Requisite in pace.

LOCAL ITEMS

In aid of Child Welfare, the C.C.C. Band will give a Band Concert in Bannerman Park tonight, weather permitting. This is the band's first Park Concert the season, and a special programme of music has been prepared.

The enquiry into the charges against Sir Richard Squires, which was postponed because of the absence of W. R. Howley, K.C., in England, will be resumed this afternoon.

During the present season the whalers Cachelot and Cabot have done unusually well, the latter operating at Hawke's Harbour having secured over 100 fish, while the former at Rose-au-Rue has also a good catch. Last year the total for both ships was only seventy.

Newsy Notes From New Bonaventure

Dear Sir,—Schr. "Melba," Capt. J. Y. Miller, arrived from the Labrador Sept. 12th, with 900 qtls fish. Capt. Miller had his schooner practically re-built the past winter and she proved herself O.K. in every respect on her maiden voyage.

Schr. "Sarah Francis," John Miller master, arrived Trinity 14th, and "Sarah M." Frank Miller, master on the 18th inst. all with bumper trips and good health. Both these schooners secured their catches on the Labrador.

The exam results at St. John's School did very well, having passed 5 out of 9, which is better than the average of the whole Island.

Mr. George Trope, teacher at Old Bonaventure during the past year, made a record in being able to account for 100 per cent of passes. Well done, Trope, may success follow you.

The work on the new church is going on steadily, and by all appearances it will be ready for Divine Service before Xmas.

Mr. David G. King has entered the teaching profession and has gone for the first start to Pass Island, Fortune Bay. He passed the Intermediate Grade at St. John's School the past year and made a good showing.

Mr. John Rex, from Port Rexton, has been chosen for the schools of Little Harbor and Delby's Cove, and has already entered upon his work. Also Mr. William Trope from Ireland's Eye has started at St. Luke's School, Old Bonaventure.

The fishery is marked down as nil for this year, although some do fail at present when weather conditions permit to get on the fishing grounds. Squid still continues plentiful.

During the past week quite a number of people visited the berry barrens and secured a turn of berries. But no sale has been made of their surplus stock as the price offered has been too low. We heard that 12 cts. a gallon was offered, but the people did not care of spending many days picking berries for that price. "Should say not."

The Malakoff has been taken from us, but then "Coming events cast their shadows before."

OPTIMIST.

POLICE COURT

Two incorrigible girls, who were arrested at 3.30 this morning as loose and disorderly persons were sent to the penitentiary for 14 days. A male companion who was with them got the same punishment. The three will be given short term prisoners fare with the hope that they may conduct themselves when released. One of the girls set up a wall when told she had to go down, but the Probation Officer told them could everything possible had been done to keep her off the streets but with no avail.

A young man who broke into the store of Bridget O'Reilly on the 23rd inst., and stole goods to the value of $10.00, pleaded guilty and his record was such that he got 3 months with hard labor.

The case of Squires vs. Tucker, which has already been before the court was resumed this morning. Defendant was charged with threatening to shoot complainant, but the case simmered down to one of using threatening language. The parties have a dispute on over the title to some land near Broad Cove. The defendant was placed under bonds to keep the peace.

A juvenile while working as a plumber took some trinkets from a house in which he was employed. The owner did not wish to prosecute and the boy was released upon suspended sentence. He has learned his lesson and will in future appreciate the maxim that honesty is the best policy.

Bobbed-Haired Girls Can't Become Nurses At Ottawa Hospital

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 15.—The ban on bobbed hair has spread in Ottawa. The latest to place down securely and firmly are the authorities who have charge of the new three million dollar civic hospital, which may open next month. Across the foot of forms on which young ladies will make applications for positions on the nursing staff is a note stating specifically that applicants having their hair bobbed will not be admitted.

Most of the city hospitals now have a similar regulation, but in very many instances they have not been strictly enforced, or else the nurses have been allowed to make use of various devices to make the bob less apparent. Of course, the shingle and other extreme forms of the bob have been altogether taboo. The civic hospital authorities have decided not to tolerate any kind of a bob, and are understood to be determined to enforce the rule.

LUNENBURG SEAMAN DROWNED AT HALIFAX

LUNENBURG, N.S., Sept. 24.—Alexander Knickle, 63, while boarding his vessel, the fishing schooner Margaret K. Smith, at Smith's wharf, last night, lost his footing in the darkness and was drowned. The body was discovered this morning and it was apparent from bruises on the face that he had struck an abutment in falling and was stunned, which prevented him from calling for help.

Latest

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Despatch to the Star from Paris quoting an unimpeachable source, declared it had been learned that Abd Elkrim, Moorish rebel leader, with the assistance of a London and Paris syndicate has planned to obtain two British submarines now in the possession of an English armament concern in attempt to cut off British supplies crossing the Straits of Gibraltar. The correspondent adds that a former British submarine officer acting as an agent of the syndicate already has approached other former officers and men who manned the submarines during the war and had no difficulty in obtaining crews. The only difficulty in the way of delivering the submarines it is said was the possible attitude of the British Govt. This it is declared may be obviated by an agreement with an unnamed middle European power to place the submarine order in its name.

BREST, France, Sept. 24.—Max Jerome Phaff, a German-American, who has his address at 20 East 196th Street, New York City, who has been arrested in a charge of piracy on the high seas, arrived in Brest today, and was lodged in the naval barracks jail. The charge against Phaff grew out of the boarding of the French freighter Mulhouse, off the Canadian coast last July by pirates, who held up the crew at the point of a revolver and made off with the cargo of nearly 26,000 cases of whiskey. It is the present intention of the defence, after pleading not guilty, to challenge the competency of the Tribunal. If this is overruled an alibi will be offered which will tend to prove that Phaff was in Halifax when the Mulhouse was boarded and looted.

MINERAL WEALTH OF NORTH COUNTRY MAY ASTONISH THE WORLD

QUEBEC, Sept. 24.—The long discussed question as to whether or not the Dominion of Canada will ever benefit materially from the mineral riches of the Northern Islands in the vicinity of the Arctic circle, many of which have been claimed for Canada in recent years by Capt. J. E. Bernier, noted Arctic explorer, would appear to be more or less definitely settled with the arrival of the Arctic at this point at six o'clock this morning. That there is every reason to be enthusiastic over the almost limitless possibilities in regard to mineral development of the North country was the keynote of statements made by members of the expedition to the Canadian Press today; the information being given out that perhaps in a short period of time the agents of the Federal Government will take steps to open up and develop what are considered to be huge treasures in mineral ore. F. D. Henderson, of the Northwest Territories and Yukon branch of the Federal Department of the Interior, in place of J. D. Craig, owing to the latter's pressing duties at Ottawa, stated, in the course of an interview, that although it would be a little premature to speak with exactitude as to the wealth of the Northern Islands, he and all concerned were strongly of the opinion that the resources there might prove to be of such a wealthy nature as to astonish the civilized world.

WILL TEST LIQUOR TREATY

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—In an attempt to test the recent treaty with Great Britain permitting her ships to bring liquor into United States ports, the Neptune Association, an organization of American deck officers, today sought injunctions restraining the Cunard Steamship Company, Limited and the masters of seven of its vessels from bringing liquor with jurisdiction of U.S.A.

RUSSIAN CAPITAL INUNDATED

LENINGRAD, Sept. 24.—Nearly the whole of Leningrad was still under water today because of terrific gale which blew in from sea yesterday bringing in from about the worst flood suffered in years by the former Russian capital. Early this morning the wind abated somewhat giving hopes that the high waters would recede. The Neva River went over its banks five or six feet. The water in the great Arterial Canal system which intercepts the city had arisen more than ten feet. The electric power failed and the city was in complete darkness. Vehicular traffic was impeded and the famous Novsky Prospekt resembled a Venetian scene. The big Maroanski Opera House was completely inundated and the broad square in front of the Winter Palace was like a vast lake. Many roofs were carried away and trees uprooted by their violent winds, which at times assumed clyconic fury. Thus far no lives have been reported lost, but property damage is enormous.

The schooner Daisy has returned to Nipper's Harbour from the French Shore with 250 qtls. of codfish.
